Introduction and Background

The popularity of yoga within the Australian community has grown significantly in recent years. In line with this growth, there has been an increase in the availability of yoga teacher training courses. These courses range in duration from a few weeks intensive to four years part-time and are usually run face-to-face, but sometimes also by distance learning. There is great disparity in duration between teacher training courses, from less than 100 hours to more than 1000 hours, with varying degrees of face-to-face contact.

Yoga Australia is the peak national body for registration and representation of Yoga Professionals from all traditions and styles of yoga, independent from any one teacher-training provider. Yoga Australia has an important role in guiding the national direction of yoga practice in Australia. As such, we have a responsibility to set standards for membership with care in order to protect both the public and the tradition of yoga. For the public, it is important to ensure that consumers trust that yoga professionals registered with Yoga Australia have at least a level of training and experience considered to be a reasonable minimum standard by their peers.

Yoga Australia believes that the minimum amount of time required for integration of the philosophy and techniques of yoga into a new professional's life is 12 months, whether the training undertaken is full-time, part-time or by distance learning. Yoga Australia also maintains a requirement of more than 350 hours yoga teacher training to become a full registered member of the association, a total which is then further broken down into specific hours required for each of its essential curriculum components. A minimum number of contact (face-to-face) hours is also required. In the case of distance learning courses, where face-to-face contact is limited, compensatory mentoring components must also be included.

We now also provide a provisional membership which will enable graduates of shorter 200 hour courses, many of which have been recognised by overseas organisations, to also join Yoga Australia whilst working to upgrade their training to the full membership standard. This change ensures that Yoga Australia remains relevant to the profession it represents, and in a position to ensure maintenance of its influence on the future standards and direction of yoga practices in Australia.

Benefits of Membership

All Yoga Australia members (other than Associate members) enjoy the full privileges of the association – they may vote, be elected to the committee, and as registered professionals, be included on the Yoga Australia website referral service.

Benefits of membership are described in more detail on the Yoga Australia website, but include:

- Advocacy for yoga and Australian yoga professionals to the government, health insurance funds, media and wider community.

- Representation by, and support from, a professional national association.
 - Well-packaged insurance options for yoga teaching/therapy, with cover for multiple modalities.
 - Discounts on workshops, seminars and conferences organised by Yoga Australia.
 - Access to first aid and cardio pulmonary resuscitation updates (CPR) via their state committees.
 - Regular state-based networking opportunities with other yoga professionals.
 - The quarterly “Yoga Today” magazine.
 - Access to the “Yoga Classifieds” on the Yoga Australia website.
 - Access to the “Calendar of Events” on the Yoga Australia website hyperlink.
 - A regular monthly newsletter with the latest news, events and training opportunities.
 - Use of the Yoga Australia member logo subject to the guidelines for use.
- Further, a member who is a Yoga Australia Registered Teacher also benefits from:
- Our “Find a Registered Teacher” website referral service to assist prospective students to find you.
 - Promotion as a Registered Professional, by the association in its communication with agencies and organisations such as health insurance funds.

- National and international recognition as a Registered Yoga Professional.

Importantly, Yoga Australia members support the work of the association to further the cause of yoga as a professional discipline, promoting yoga to the public and supporting yoga practice standards in Australia.

Types of Membership

Yoga Australia now provides five categories of membership:

- A 200-hours of training "Provisional" category of membership.
- Associate membership for non-teaching members.
- Full membership (Registered Level 1 Teacher) i.e. 350 hours training.
- Full membership (Registered Level 2 Teacher) i.e. intermediate, 500 hours training and 5 years/500 hours teaching.
- Full membership (Registered Senior Teacher) i.e. senior, 1000 hours training and 10 years/1000 hours teaching.

Provisional membership

The Yoga Australia Provisional membership category is equivalent to the Yoga Alliance RYT200® standard and provides recognition in line with common overseas minimum requirements. Teachers with 200 hours training in the required curriculum areas are able to obtain Provisional membership with Yoga Australia, on condition that they continue their training to reach 350 hours of training (and therefore Full membership of the association) within a period of three years. Provisional members are able to teach yoga and qualify for yoga teaching public liability and professional risk insurance. New Provisional members who have spent less than 12 months training to become a yoga teacher are also required to enter into a mentoring agreement with a more senior recognised teacher to bring the length of time spent under supervision up to 12 months. (Please see the Mentoring Guidelines document on the Yoga Australia website for further information).

Full membership (Registered Level 1, 2 and Senior Teacher)

Teachers with at least 350 hours training in the required curriculum areas are able to join Yoga Australia as Full members (Registered Level 1 Teacher). Please note: A mentoring agreement is required if the time spent in teacher training is less than 12 months. Registered Level 2 Teacher (Intermediate) and Registered Senior Teacher membership levels also involve further training. Level 2 (Intermediate) membership requires 500 hours of training (equivalent to the Yoga Alliance RYT500® standard). Registered Senior Teacher membership requires 1000 hours of training.

The definition of what constitutes as appropriate training hours for the purposes of increasing levels of membership is the same as the definition and application of CPD described in the Continuing Professional Development (CPD) document available on the Yoga Australia website. In simple terms, this refers to further training in yoga teaching. Such training is broken down into training that is core to yoga teaching, and training related to yoga teaching, and into contact (face-to-face) or non-contact training, with some activities earning more points than others.

Minimum hours of training in specific curriculum areas continue to apply to all levels of membership, to ensure that teachers have received sufficient training in essential components of yoga, such as yogic physiology, anatomy and physiology and teaching techniques. See the Curriculum Table later in this document for further information.

Special Entry membership

Special Entry membership allows for the fact that traditional training in yoga (often undertaken in a guru-disciple relationship) may have been informal and not certified, therefore not easily demonstrated. This membership category is especially relevant to teachers who gained their training and experience in the years before certification of teacher training became the accepted norm.

Membership Information

If you feel that Special Entry applies to you, please be aware that you will need to provide a detailed explanation of your reasons for applying for Special Entry and sufficient documentation to demonstrate the extent of your training and experience. Information regarding documentation required is available in the Application for Membership form. Requests for Special Entry are considered by the Committee of Management on a case-by-case basis.

Associate membership

Associate membership is available for:

- People training to become yoga teachers (not yet teaching).
- Yoga teachers who are no longer teaching.
- Other people who wish to support the work of the Association.

Association.

As non-teaching members, Associates are not entitled to yoga teaching public liability or professional risk insurance.

Associate members do not have voting rights, i.e. they cannot vote at Yoga Australia meetings and cannot be elected to the Committee. They can however, have input into debates or other processes on which votes are cast, and may be invited to serve on working parties established by the Committee.

Associate members details are not listed on the Yoga Australia website.

Requirements of Membership

All Yoga Australia members are required to:

- Abide by the rules of Yoga Australia available on the Yoga Australia website.
- Abide by the Yoga Australia Code of Professional Practice and Statement of Ethics available on the Yoga Australia website.

Further, to maintain their status as a Registered Yoga Professional, members are also required to:

- Maintain current first aid and CPR certification being Provide First Aid or equivalent. Currently, first aid has to be updated every three years.
- Engage in and provide evidence of CPD.

Continuing Professional Development

All Yoga Australia members (other than Associate members) must earn at least 12 CPD points each year of membership to continue to be listed as a Registered Yoga Teacher. Evidence of CPD undertaken is to be provided each year at the time of renewal. The CPD Policy and Forms document on the Yoga Australia website provides more details of this requirement.

Training undertaken as CPD can also count towards increasing levels of membership – therefore, professionals are advised to keep good records of all training undertaken, along with records of actual teaching experience gained.

Members choosing not to complete the required CPD points can remain as members with Yoga Australia; however, they will not be listed as a Registered Yoga Teacher.

Upgrading of levels of membership

Teacher training hours required to increase your level of membership within Yoga Australia should be acquired within the categories specified for member CPD i.e. through workshops, seminars, conferences, retreats, or, at half value, through correspondence/online courses, program development, research, authoring, etc. For further information on these categories see the Yoga Australia CPD Policy. For example, increasing your membership level from Registered Level 1 Teacher to Registered Level 2 Teacher requires the accumulation of an additional 150 training hours. These hours can be earned over a number of years as well as the required increase in hours of teaching, and number of years of teaching.

To apply for an upgrade of membership level, you should complete the Application for Upgrade form and return it to the Yoga Australia office, attaching:

- Evidence of the number of years of professional teaching.
- An estimate of total teaching hours.
- Evidence of additional training undertaken to bring you to the requirements of the more senior

Membership Information

level. (In doing this, attention should be paid to establishing that the required minimum training hours have been reached for each criterion within the Curriculum Table.)

Mentoring guidelines

Mentoring (both being a mentor and being mentored) is to be encouraged at all levels of seniority in yoga teaching/therapy. Mentoring has been part of yoga for thousands of years, with teachers handing down knowledge to students on a one-to-one basis. Ongoing mentoring is not a formal requirement of association membership, but we encourage teachers at all levels of membership to see both mentoring and being mentored as a desirable and important part of ongoing personal and professional development in yoga. (See the Mentoring Guidelines on the Yoga Australia website for more information.)

Post-Graduate Qualifications

Yoga Therapist Registration

Yoga therapy is the process of empowering individuals to progress toward improved health and wellbeing through the application of the teachings and practices of yoga. The practice of yoga therapy requires specialised training and skill development to support the relationship between the client/student and therapist and to effect positive change for the individual.

To register as a Yoga Therapist with Yoga Australia, you will require a minimum of Yoga Australia Level 1 registration, teaching experience of at least two years and at least 300 hours of regular yoga teaching, and a minimum of two years of regular practice as well as completing a specific Yoga Therapy training course which has its own training requirements. For a comprehensive overview of Yoga Therapy training requirements, refer Yoga Therapists Education Standards on the Yoga Australia website.

Frequently asked questions about membership

What if I don't have a minimum of 12 months of teacher training?

Engage in a mentoring agreement with a more senior recognised teacher for a period of time to achieve the minimum 12-month period under supervision. Mentoring involves undertaking regular (at least weekly) supervised training in yoga teaching with a senior teacher and can be structured in a way to best suit both you and your mentor, e.g. teaching as a trainee teacher under supervision or assisting the teacher in class. At the conclusion of the mentoring period, your mentor should provide you with a letter confirming the length and nature of the mentoring period. See the Mentoring Guidelines on the Yoga Australia website.

What if I don't have enough hours of training in each of the curriculum areas?

In this case, you should engage in further training to achieve the required hours in each of the curriculum areas e.g. completing additional workshops or courses to complete all syllabus areas. See the Curriculum Table in this document for a breakdown of the training hours required by curriculum area. There are a number of teacher training schools which provide short courses covering specific curriculum areas. Further training may also include formal mentoring with a more senior recognised teacher, e.g. teaching as a trainee teacher under supervision or assisting the teacher in class, in which case a letter will be required from the mentor teacher to confirm the curriculum areas taught and the hours completed. See the Mentoring Guidelines document on the Yoga Australia website for more information.

Membership Information

What if my training is not from a teacher-training course registered with Yoga Australia?

Yoga Australia will consider applications for membership from all yoga teachers, not only those whose teacher-training course is registered with Yoga Australia. However, if your course of study is not registered with us (registered courses are listed on the Yoga Australia website), you will need to provide more extensive detail to enable us to understand that the nature of your training, the topics covered and number of hours of study undertaken for each of these meet the criteria outlined in the Levels of Membership Curriculum Table for the level of membership you are seeking (pages 8-10). Testimonials from your teachers, colleagues or students regarding the extent or nature of your teaching should be included. Where the course was delivered as external (online/ remote) education and face-to-face contact hours were significantly reduced, you are required to have completed or agree to undertake a face to face mentoring arrangement.

- For a 350-hour course a minimum of 8 hours must be spent face to face (e.g. with a local mentor)
- For a 200-hour course, a minimum of 4 hours must be spent face to face (e.g. with a local mentor).

In cases where your statements regarding your training, experience or background cannot be substantiated through external documentation, Yoga Australia may require provision of a statutory declaration relating to this matter.

What is required of a fitness professional wanting to teach yoga in a fitness setting?

Fitness professionals wanting to teach (or continue teaching) yoga in a fitness setting must first have their prior training and experience in yoga teaching assessed by Yoga Australia before they can register with Fitness Australia as a yoga instructor. Please contact Fitness Australia for the requirements for registration as a yoga instructor. Such training should comprise a minimum of 200 hours of training. Further training beyond this level is also encouraged. If you are not sure how your training or experience will meet Yoga Australia requirements, please contact Yoga Australia on 1300 881 451 or send an email to enquiries@yogaaustralia.org.au for assistance. Please see the Fitness Professionals and Yoga Teaching document on the Yoga Australia website for more information.

How can I use the Yoga Australia member logo?

Yoga Australia members can and should use the Registered Teacher (or member) logo in their advertising and promotional materials. Use of the logo is limited to advertising, promotional materials and pages of your website directly related to your teaching, e.g. the logo cannot be used in such a way as to suggest that Yoga Australia has recognised any other aspects of your business – only your yoga teaching. Your right to use the logo is at the discretion of Yoga Australia and is also contingent on your membership with Yoga Australia. As such, this right will lapse if your membership expires.

Notes to accompany the curriculum table

General guidelines

The Curriculum Table provides guidelines as to minimum requirements in training and experience for membership of Yoga Australia. These are not absolute rules, and the descriptions given are examples only. Membership is considered on a case-by-case basis at the discretion of Yoga Australia.

Your actual training in yoga teaching may vary as required by style or tradition of yoga and may not have come from a single source – you may have acquired your expertise in different ways, from different teachers with different learning models. However, overall your training and experience must largely cover the curriculum areas and time requirements shown in the table, and you must be able to provide documentation to demonstrate this. In instances where no certificate is available, you must get testimonials, which confirm the fact that you have the training, and experience that you claim.

If you have any questions about your eligibility for membership, please contact Yoga Australia on 1300 881 451 or send an email to enquiries@yogaaustralia.org.au for assistance.

Mentoring

For those who have spent less than 12 months training to become a yoga teacher, there is a requirement to enter a mentoring agreement with a more senior recognised teacher to bring the length of time spent under supervision up to 12 months. Mentoring involves undertaking regular (at least weekly) supervised training in yoga teaching and can be structured in a way to best suit both you and your mentor, e.g. teaching as a trainee teacher under supervision or assisting the teacher in class. See the Mentoring Guidelines on the Yoga Australia website for further information.

Provisional membership

Teachers with 200 hours training in the required curriculum areas are able to obtain Provisional membership with Yoga Australia, on the condition that they continue training in order to reach 350 hours training (and therefore Full membership of the association) within three years. Provisional members are able to teach yoga and qualify for yoga teaching public liability insurance.
